

Meet our people

Manish Bhojwani

My name is Manish Bhojwani, I am from India. I look after the business in Algeria, I'm leading the operations as a Country Manager for the past two years.

I started my career as a graduate electrical engineer in Petrofac, moved through various roles in project management, corporate, and today I am leading one of the most important markets for the country across all projects and across various functions.

My colleagues would describe me as a dreamer, as an achiever, a guy that sometimes can push the envelope a little bit, but at the same time loves to have fun.

What inspires me is this relentless drive to make a difference and an impact to the business. You know, it's been 19 years that I've been working in Petrofac and it has given me a lot of opportunities. So, if I can make that little bit of contribution to the business every day, that's my purpose of getting up every day in the morning.

I have had many memorable moments at Petrofac, but the strongest highlight I would pick would be, you know, the inauguration of Alrar project. This was a project with a lot of challenges and nobody believed that we would deliver on time, within budget. And we exceeded all expectations of the country, of Algeria, and that was my claim to fame as well.

Petrofac is a very multicultural and diverse organisation. So, we are not an Indian company, we are not an Italian company, we are not a Spanish company. But what makes us connect is that social fabric that connects us all together.

It's a great time to be in Petrofac at the heart of the energy transition. We are well positioned in upstream, downstream, in refining, most recently in petchems and offshore wind, the recent contract awards. The opportunities are endless and boundless.

If I had to say anything to anybody about the energy sector, or in fact even working at Petrofac, it would be the ability to make an impact to the world. I mean we are facing an energy crisis, there are security problems, energy security problems everywhere. So, this sector and this company is going to allow you to make that impact, a positive impact to society.

Petrofac is a great place to work and if you are deciding to make that move, go ahead and make that move now.