I joined Petrofac because Petrofac is a big name in the EPC world and I felt like the values of the company aligned with mine. And when I got the opportunity to interview for the graduate program, I jumped on it. And luckily I got in.

I took up a career in project management, specifically in project controls because I like working with data. I like analyzing data. As of last year, I was given the opportunity to be a planning lead on a feed project.

One of the most valuable lessons I learned in my career is that you need to focus on three aspects. One is network, focus your energy on networking. Second is it's important to focus on the value of the work you do. And third an important factor is timing.

Petrofac is people, and our talent is the most important strength that Petrofac has.
